

Data Repository of Aimbell Journals

We at Aimbell encourage authors to select a data repository that issues a persistent identifier, preferably a digital object identifier.

We follow an open-access data repository mode. Furthermore, we follow a double-anonymous peer review policy and a data policy that mandates sharing. Hence, we request that you deposit your data in a repository that preserves anonymity, i.e., blinds the details of the authors

As an example, you may use the repository Figshare to generate a “private sharing link” for free. As this feature is especially for anonymous peer review, you can generate a private sharing link to anonymize data for reviewers.